

Summary

The organizational and institutional basis of the educational and ideological activity in Serbia during the National Liberation Struggle

The imperative of the revolutionary time was to involve and include the widest social layers in the full organization and realisation of the educational system under the given conditions. Education was the condition to provide victory for the new forces in order to fulfill the revolutionary tasks, and the new educational policy respected all national special characteristics.